Study Abroad or Exchange: What's the difference?

Throughout this brochure you will see the terms 'study abroad' and 'exchange' used for our programs. There are key differences between the two:

Study abroad

You are a 'study abroad' student if your institution does not have an exchange agreement with Deakin or an exchange place is not available. Study abroad students can study for a trimester or a full academic year at Deakin, and are normally required to pay upfront tuition fees to Deakin.

Exchange

If you are enrolled at one of Deakin's designated exchange partners, you are eligible to come to Deakin as an 'exchange student'. You can study for one trimester or a full academic year, and receive credit towards your home degree. Exchange programs are run on a reciprocal basis so you will continue to pay your tuition and student activity fees at your home university, rather than paying tuition fees to Deakin. However, to qualify as an exchange student, you will need to be nominated by your home university.
